

SCORE KILLED IN STORMS

(By the United Press)—Twenty-three were killed, scores injured and huge property damage was caused during the night by a gale which swept the entire region from the Rocky Mountains to the Appalachians.

Pinson, Tennessee, was hardest hit. A wind and hail storm there killed 20 and injured two score.

The storm took a toll of two lives at Richmond, Ky., when the home of William Hall was demolished.

Throughout the central section of the country the storm left in its wake, scores of injured, thousands of dollars property damage, wrecked wires and crippled transportation.

Driven by an 80 mile wind, snow, sleet and rain deluged the entire area.

The disturbance originated over the southwest, where a heavy downpour benefited the winter wheat crop.

Sweeping northeast, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan were hard hit.

The four states reported many injured by the high wind, which at times lifted pedestrians from their feet and dashed them against buildings. Traffic was paralyzed.

The storm passed out over the Great Lakes today and will blow itself out down the St. Lawrence Valley, official weather observers predicted.

Roads were blocked by a heavy snow fall in the northern Adirondacks and a general snow storm over the Atlantic states was predicted, although the gale was dying out as the disturbance moved eastward.

Tennessee Town A Mass Of Ruins

JACKSON, TENN., March 12.—(By the United Press)—Twenty persons were killed and nearly two score injured when a wind and hail storm struck Pinson during the night. Bodies of the dead were brought here by rescue workers who rushed to the stricken village when word of the disaster was broadcast. Pinson was quickly ascertained when the storm broke, wrecking houses and buildings. Many were killed while they slept. Others were tossed about in the wreckage of their homes as the storm swept about the town. Rain and hail followed the high wind, adding to the misery of the victims. The casualties lay scattered about, while the townspeople, who escaped with only light injuries, worked in the darkness and rain to provide relief for them. Messengers were rushed to surrounding towns to secure nurses, physicians, provisions, and other emergency necessities. Hours after the cyclone had passed, bringing death and destruction in its wake, little bands of half-clad townspeople struggled to repair the damage to their homes. Bands of relief workers arrived shortly before dawn. They came in autos, broken down buggies and other conveyances. They found the school house, two churches and a number of dwellings demolished.

The known dead at Pinson include Mrs. J. L. James, wife of a Methodist minister; Mrs. Bloomer Vanfresnet and two children; two children of Joseph Irvin, and two negroes.

Debris was scattered over a wide area. Many of the dead and injured still lay in the streets or under the wreckage of their homes. Relief workers also pushed out to Deansville, a village near Pinson, where the storm caused considerable damage. Eight persons were put aboard a special train and additional victims from Pinson were also placed aboard for treatment. Among the dead of Pinson, was Mrs. James, wife of a Methodist minister, her husband also being among the seriously injured. Their home had been blown down and they were trapped in the wreckage. They lay, side by side during the long hours of the night in the rain and cold.

We do not know the extent of the toll yet. Mayor J. D. Johnson, of Jackson, who took charge of relief work, said today: "We were unable to make a thorough search of the storm-swept territory. We will have a large force of relief workers in the field today."

HEAVY DAMAGE IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—A high wind here early today damaged much shrubbery, knocked down electric light and street car wires and blew out a number of windows in downtown business buildings.

The high wind followed a heavy rainfall during the night. The wind reached a velocity of 45 miles an hour over Cincinnati, the highest of the year, according to the weather bureau.

Covington and the suburbs of Kentucky, felt the impact of the wind most severely, reports gathered by the police of the various cities show. A house near Newport was demolished and the roof of a building in Covington was blown down.

Morris Marquis, a tailor, was struck by a sign that was carried to the street by the wind in Cincinnati. He was taken to a hospital.

BLIZZARD SWEEPING ADIRONDACKS

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., March 12.—(By the United Press)—A blizzard is sweeping the northern Adirondacks today. Heavy snows drifting under the speeding of high winds, have blocked the roads and transportation has been seriously delayed.

Heavy Damage In Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Hundreds of trees were uprooted and many roofs damaged in Nashville and vicinity in last night's wind-storm which reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour, the highest ever recorded here. Wire service has suffered greatly.

At the Hermitage, the home of General Andrew Jackson, the wind blew down forty cedar trees planted over 80 years ago.

Word received here from a half dozen middle Tennessee counties indicates extensive property damage, but no one was injured.

Two Killed By Cyclone In Kentucky

RICHMOND, KY., March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Two people were killed, two fatally injured and a number of others seriously hurt by a cyclone which swept over a small section on the Madison-Facett county border, shortly before midnight.

Mrs. Logan Griffith and Rosa Lee Hall, 15, daughter of William Hall, were fatally injured.

The Hall home (ten miles from Richmond, was picked up by the wind and dashed to splinters in a field fifty yards away. In the house were Mr. and Mrs. Hall and their six children and Mrs. Logan Griffith, a neighbor, and her four children.

Coal Gouge Charged

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Operators of non-union bituminous coal mines in West Virginia are "gouging" coal consumers by present prices charged for their product, the United Mine Workers of America charge in a statement filed with the federal coal commission. One year ago producers of West Virginia "smokeless" types of lump coal were selling at prices ranging from $2.15 to $2.40 a ton, the statement made public today said, while buyers in cities like Chicago, Columbus and Cincinnati during the last week of February of the present year were paying from $6.50 to $7.50 per ton.

A proportionate increase was said to be noted in the current price of screenings and mine run coal which normally sells at less than the lump product.

"It is merely a case of piling up additional profits. Coal prices at the mine have been boosted in other sections of the country also, but the increases do not even approach the robber figures on West Virginia non-union coal," the statement said.

THE TIMES WEATHER MAN

There's a lot of blow about this weather, but the public is too busy dodging signs, tree limbs, etc., to make much fuss about it. Here's for tomorrow:

OHIO—Mostly cloudy and colder tonight and Tuesday. Probably local rain or snow in north portion.

KENTUCKY—Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Tuesday. Diminishing southwest shifting to north-west winds.

The extremes in local temperature today were: High, 70; low, 46.

Storm Causes Train Wreck

CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Two men were hurt early today in a rear-end collision on the Southern Railway, at Pulaski, Tenn., which was caused indirectly by the wind storm, according to a report received by officials of the railroad here.

The Carolina Special which left Cincinnati at 6:45 last night, ran into the top of a box car which had been blown off a freight train that had preceded the passenger train. Another train which left Cincinnati an hour later, and which was bound for New Orleans, ran into the dining car on the rear of the Carolina Special, the report stated.

Engineer W. F. Jones, of Ludlow, Ky., was severely burned and bruised, and J. F. Wallace, also of Ludlow, a cook in the dining car on the Carolina Special, was bruised.

Bloody Clashes In The Ruhr

RECKLINGHAUSEN, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Eight Germans are dead as the result of clashes with French troops in various parts of the Recklinghausen district last night. One French soldier and three Germans were wounded in a riot at Dortmund. A state of siege has been declared in the entire Recklinghausen district in consequence of these disturbances.

(By the United Press)

Twenty-four hours of terrible tension in the Ruhr following discovery that two French officials were slain near Buer, broke today and at least seven and possibly ten Germans were killed, reports from French sources at Buer which is held under an intensified state of siege, said.

Two Germans suspected of murdering Lieutenant Collin and M. Joly, French officials, found slain Saturday night, were captured by gendarmes. Attempting to escape, the suspects were shot dead, after which an ugly crowd threatened to storm the police station.

French troops going to the rescue killed five of the mob.

Berlin received reports that three Germans were killed at Buer for disobeying the curfew order, which is part of the state of siege.

French and Germans engaged in street clashes at Dortmund and a French officer was killed, while several on either side, including a German police commissioner, were wounded.

French government officials, including Premier Poincare and War Minister Maginot, reiterated that those responsible for the murder of Saturday night will be punished to the extreme limit. Humane treatment heretofore practiced against German offenders cannot continue, Maginot said, before leaving for Brussels.

With the situation in the Ruhr growing worse, and France and Belgium getting their heads together for still more stringent measures, Germany's resistance shows signs of weakening.

There were numerous indications available that the government is willing to talk reasonable reparations, and it was permitted to be known that quiet peace feelers are out.

German Rum Fleet

DUESSELDORF, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The Recklinghausen district today faced severe penalties for what was perhaps the most serious incident of the Franco-Belgian occupation—the killing at Buer of Lieutenant Collin, of the chausseurs and M. Joly, director of the Buer railroad station.

French officials indicated that Buer would be placed under what will amount to martial law in addition to a fine of 100,000,000 marks.

The persons who did the shooting have not been apprehended.

Storm Warning

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—This storm warning was issued today by the weather bureau:

From 3 p. m. southeast storm warning has been issued from the Block Island to East Port, Maine. Strong east and south winds and probably gales to heavy seas over Lake Michigan.

"Governors Must Aid Dry Officers" --Harding

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1923 By The Portsmouth Times)

PALE BEACH, Fla., Mar. 10.—One of the first acts of President Harding after his vacation will be to meet the governors of all the states in the conference at the national capital to discuss the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

The president feels that it is his duty to make clear to the state executives that the language of the 18th amendment which places on the federal government and the several state "concurrent jurisdiction" means joint responsibility. The states have the police force and the federal government as additional machinery but the latter is virtually powerless without the hearty cooperation of the states.

Florida is one of the states which isn't as dry as the federal prohibition officers would like to have it and while President Harding isn't down here on any inspection trip, he cannot escape noticing some of the many newspaper items which have been appearing lately concerning prohibition violations. For instance the "Palm Beach Daily Post" in its leading editorial has this to say today:

"Naturally there has been a good deal of comment in Florida newspapers in the indictment at Tampa by a federal grand jury of three residents of West Palm Beach on charges of conspiracy to violate the national liquor law, and some of the comment is unfriendly criticism. The Orlando Reporter Star says, for example, that the open and notorious conditions of the liquor business at Miami and Palm Beach are known all over the United States."

"We have heard something of it, quor law violations in New York City and in Chicago and in New York and in San Francisco, indeed even in Orlando, and that being the case it is not improbable that there have been reports of violations on the lower east coast. It is even probable that there are violations of the law here; in view of the proximity of the coast to the West Indies, where the sale of liquor is lawful, and where there are men in business to supply the demand, it would not be surprising that liquor got into Palm Beach and Miami, since it gets into so many interior points less exposed."

"To expect state and county authorities to deal with infractions of the law by residents and to protect the hundreds of thousands of visitors

Roundup In Britain

LONDON, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The swift and silent raid upon Irish suspects in Great Britain has created something of a sensation here and developments are awaited with much curiosity.

Judging from the usual reticence of the free state government it seems unlikely that much information will be given out now that the prisoners are safely lodged in Irish jails.

Official announcement both here and in Ireland, put the total number of prisoners at 98, but some of the press reports suggest a larger number.

Sean Mahoney, a member of the Dgail, is said to be among the prisoners. It is stated that the arrests in England were made under an order signed by Home Secretary Bridgeman.

Cities Left Deaf And Speechless

CHICAGO, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Dozens of cities in the Mississippi Valley today were deaf and speechless as far as their relations to the outside world were concerned. A storm coming up from the southwest spread fan-like over the great plains and caused death and property loss and demolished lines of communication. Telephone and telegraph lines were blown down, isolating some cities completely, while other communities of many thousands of inhabitants conversed with the rest of the world by a single copper strand.

As communication was restored today, stories of deaths and property destruction began to arrive.

High winds did much damage through Central Illinois, but seemed to have spent their energy before reaching Chicago. The wind and rain were accompanied in Chicago by an electrical storm.

Central and Southern Wisconsin are tied up by a blizzard which started last night and still raged today. The snow is heavy and in some parts of the state huge drifts have formed from the high wind. The storm has created the greatest damage of its kind this winter. One man is dead of exhaustion from battling with the elements, according to a correspondent.

Thousands of Milwaukee citizens were compelled to walk to work this morning because of the galled street car service. Many automobiles were stuck in huge drifts. Eighteen inches of snow fell in Madison, Wis., accompanied by a wind which at times attained a velocity of sixty miles an hour was general over the eastern part of Missouri and Southern Illinois, last night and today. Telephone and telegraph lines have been interrupted.

With only a few wires workable, reports on the extent of the storm were materially delayed. It was

$600,000 Shortage

CHICAGO, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—While the Logan Square Trust and Savings Bank, closed Friday after the finding of the body of its president, Fred W. Popp, remained shut today, reports indicated state bank examiners had obtained information which caused their investigation to be extended.

"They declined official comment, but unofficial reports placed a possible shortage as high as $600,000.

Plans to re-open the bank were abandoned and instead six additional bank examiners were expected here from Springfield to assist on the bank's papers.

J. S. Savage, chief bank examiner said, there is a re-organization and a consolidation in the air, and that's about the only way in which the bank can open and continue to do business and save the money of the depositors."

Six small banks outside Chicago, along with the Logan Square institution were reported involved as victims. In what was described as a scheme to place worthless paper in the banks and withdraw the negotiable securities.

The name of Josephine Baker, an operatic staident, and former model, was brought into the investigation. She said Mr. Popp had been her friend and financial counselor, and that on two occasions their acquaintance had brought protest from Mrs. Popp.

"I can't think what's the matter for she's been doin' housework like that without no trouble for nigh onto fifteen years."

"HER UNBORN CHILD" AT SUN

The Jack Ball Stock Co. is presenting a novel and interesting attraction for the first half of this week, beginning tonight. "Her Unborn Child" is a title which might lead one to believe the play of a risqué nature. The Stock Company's management assures everyone though that such is not the case. ## You'll win the fight against Constipation with Kellogg's Bran!

It is wonderful news for every constipation sufferer to know that Kellogg's Bran guarantees permanent relief if it is eaten regularly. Two tablespoonsful each day, as much with each meal in chronic cases—taken consistently—will work health wonders, driving out toxic poisons, freeing affected organs and allowing nature to eliminate the wastes in its own way! Think what this means to health when you know that constipation is responsible for a large majority of human ailments; that it is often the direct cause of Bright's and diabetes; that, in milder form, it is responsible for sick headaches, biliousness, nausea, sour breath, pimples, etc. Get a package of Kellogg's Bran to-day and fight against constipation and what it leads to! Free your family from its ravages; free yourself from its grip! Within a week you will be surprised at the improvement. Kellogg's Bran is not only a permanent relief from constipation, but it is a health food, containing mineral salts as well as other vital food elements that are a necessity to human life. Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal, or sprinkle it on or mix it with other hot or cold cereals because it is ready to eat. It is delicious cooked with hot cereals. And, you have mixed much if you do not know the delights of bran muffins, bran raisin bread, bran griddle cakes, etc. Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran.

Harding Devotes Some Time To Business

PAIM BEACH, FLA., March 12—(By the Associated Press)—As the houseboat Pioneer, carrying President and Mrs. Harding and their vacation companions, steamed slowly southward today, indications increased that the stay of the president in the Southern Florida city, would not be all play and no work. Although the president has been devoting himself mostly to rest and recreation since he left Washington a week ago today, definite periods each day have been set aside to attend to official business. Telegraphic correspondence has been maintained with the White House, and at each important stop such as that made here Saturday and yesterday, much of the mail has been sent aboard the Pioneer.

On arriving at Miami tomorrow, the president will be joined by two members of his cabinet, Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Davis. The former, although still unable to resume full charge of the affairs of his department owing to the weakened condition resulting from his recent illness, is understood to have given some attention within the past week to the more urgent matters including the war frauds inquiry. It is considered likely that Mr. Daugherty will have several matters to take up with his chief.

The Pastime Club meets Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. A. Crabtree of Wheelersburg.

Robert Daniel Mantel was the name given the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Mantel of Fourth street, who was christened at Holy Redeemer church Sunday afternoon, by Rev. J. E. McGuirk. The sponsors were Miss Tillie Dearford and Mr. Carroll Billian.

The following from the Ohio State Journal will be read with interest as Miss Hartinger is a former resident of this city:

"Miss Helen Hartinger, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Hartinger of 980 Bryden Road, has been chosen a member of Rho Sigma Sorority, one of the few women's fraternities recognized by the recent faculty action at Ohio Wesleyan University. Installation of the chapter will not take place until October."

Governors

The crooks who follow in their and assume also the whole responsibility of enforcement of the fed-law, is not a fair expectation.
works out in practice sheriffs on over east coast do a good deal that should be done by the officers, and the credit for work is taken by the shirking officers. A larger part of of the federal enforcement officers devoted to their own business and not to prosecution of county officials would relieve Palm Beach and Miami of some of the reproach put on them.

President Not Visiting Hotels

The foregoing tells the story not only of Florida but of the experience of the federal authorities with the local officials of other states. Mr.
Harding isn't making any visits to hotels along the coast, nor is he inquiring into the pro and con of prohibition in the winter colony but as he drifts along in his houseboat for miles and miles, he cannot help wondering when the long coast line with its many inlets can ever be thoroughly protected against the incursions not only of small craft from the Bahamas but airplanes too, from Cuba, Nassau and other islands flying a foreign flag.

What happens inside Florida after the liquor arrives is a joint federal and state problem, but this state has no adequate navy or marine personnel to stop rum running which flour-ishes in these placid waters ever so much more than in the storm-tossed three mile limits of New York and New Jersey.

There's plenty of opportunity here, indeed, for presidential solicitude on the subject of prohibition enforcement.

Squeezed To Death

30 Arrests Over Week End

The police were kept busy over the week-end and as a result of their activities the blotter at police headquarters contained the following list of offenders, thirty in all: E. R.
Hoswell and Esther Armstrong, statutory charges; Ethel Brown, disorderly conduct; George White, disorderly; George Demereaux, possession of liquor; Roy Slusher and Ernie Blanton, petit larceny; Lossee Stone and Ed Shump, violating auto registration law; J. E. Colwell, possessing a lewd picture; Harold Smith, speeding and reckless driving;

Mary Blethen and Fred Marsh, statutory charge; Kenneth Cline, violating traffic; Roy Davis, speeding;

William Riley, 9, delinquency;
Charles Gambien, John Sanders, Sam
Baker, Paris Wright, Charles Martin,
Will Brown, Dave Johnson, Lemmie
Carter, David Funnin, Parsh Scuggs, Moose Molster, Fred Anderson, Willam Kirsh and William Cobb, plain

Firm Name Over-Looked

Owing to an oversight on the part of the proof-reader, the name of the Ricker Realty Co. was left off on the half-page ad at the Portsmouth Real Estate Board carried in the Sunday issue of the Sun-Times. The Ricker Realty Co. was among the first real estate agencies to link up with the Real Estate Board and the firm name should have appeared in the advertisement. The Sun-Times very much regrets the oversight, which has caused the Ricker Realty Co. considerable embarrassment.

Thomas Walls, Oldest Citizen In Pike County, Passes Away

WAVERLY, March 12.—The death of Thomas Walls, Pike county's oldest resident, occurred Saturday at his home in Idaho. He would have been 96 years old next August.
Until a week ago he was in good health, but since then he had been unable to leave his bed, growing weaker until death occurred Saturday. During his later years Mr.
Walls amused himself by whitening fancy designs from store boxes and the odd figures he turned out with a pocket-knife were always a wonder to strangers. He lived in Pike county when it was a wilderness and when game and wild animals abounded.

In those days he often made trips to Chillicothe, taking with him deer bams which he traded for gunpowder and ball.

W. L. Vance Passes Away

MANCHESTER, March 12.—William L. Vance born in Monroe township in 1839 died at the home of his son F. C. Vance at Cincinnati Friday.
He opened a dry goods store here in 1859 and sold it to C. N. Foster an employee in 1900.
In his half-century as a merchant with a reputation state-wide he saved
a fortune. The Vance Dry Goods

Co., Inc. is still a going concern.
C. W. Bierley, realtor of Portsmouth was a member of the corporation.
Mr. Vance was always consulted in regard to public improvements of the county and was appointed postmaster here in 1867. He was president of the Farmers Bank before he moved to Cincinnati in 1912. Two sons survive. Burial here Monday.

Printers Plan For Their State Conference, April 7-8

Local No. 637 I. T. U., which is the local organization of printers held their regular meeting Sunday afternoon starting at 1:30. It was a very interesting session since reports from the various committees in charge of the conference program showed that they had been on the job and that the details were being worked out as fast as possible. The Washington Hotel has been secured for all sessions of the conference.

Journey's orchestra has been secured for the meeting, and representatives of all local organizations of the I. T. U.
in Ohio are expected to be present.
April 7 and 8, the dates set for the conference.

Radicals On Trial

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., March 12.—
(By the Associated Press)—More than a score of radical leaders, alleged to have attended a convention of the communist party near here last August were gathered here again today as the state prepared to wage its first fight for prosecution under the Michigan syndicalism law in the trial of William Z. Foster, leader in the 1919 steel strike. Not as delegates, but as defense witnesses and defendants awaiting trial the alleged radicals came this time.

Foster, an official of the Trades Union Education League, is the first of 32 alleged communist party members to be placed on trial. Others awaiting trial include these: Pastor Stokes, who with ten others voluntarily surrendered to authorities Saturday; Charles E. Ruthenberg, of Cleveland; Earl Browder, an associate of Foster's; Max Lerner, of Seattle, and Norman H. Tallentire.

Dramatic "Triangle" Story Told By Verna McCall To Explain Why He Shot And Killed Otto Blackburn

Claims He Was Attacked With Knife Before He Fired Gun; Mrs. McCall Still Missing From Home

Verna McCall, young Rarden school teacher and resident of Otway, who fired three shots into the body of Otto E. Blackburn, well known resident and prominent merchant of Rarden, at the McCall home Saturday night, was arraigned in Municipal court this morning at ten o'clock when he waived examination and was held to the grand jury.

His bond was fixed at $2500, and it was promptly furnished by friends, many of whom called at the office of Sheriff Dunham Sunday and volunteered to go on the young man's bond.

McCall spent all of Sunday in a cell at the county jail, where he was brought about five o'clock Sunday morning in Lynn's ambulance. He was kept busy Sunday seeing his friends from Otway and Rarden, who came to offer him words of encouragement and any assistance needed. He would cry now and then when they mentioned the subject of his wife and his troubles, but on the whole his one day in the cell was passed very comfortably.

The shooting, the tragic end of another thrilling affair, occurred about 8:30 Saturday night when Blackburn went into the McCall home and quarreled with McCall who claims he shot in self-defense when Blackburn came at him with a butcher knife picked up from the kitchen table of the McCall home.

Worried About Mrs. McCall
Relatives of Mrs. McCall are greatly worried over the young woman's absence, she having left her home last Tuesday. She is supposed to be in Covington, but just where relatives do not know. Her sister, Mrs. Clark Wolford of Otway, talked to her over the long distance telephone Friday morning but at that time Mrs. McCall only asked about the health of her four year old daughter, Pauline, and said that she did not know when she was coming back. Mrs. Wolford was unable to learn from her where she was staying in Covington.

McCall tells a straight-forward story of his family trouble and the climax to it all Saturday night. He was made comfortable at the Claude Turner home in Otway Saturday night from a short time after the shooting until he was taken to the county jail Sunday morning. It was there that he talked to his friends and officials of the trouble. With his head bandaged he appeared only a little weak from the loss of blood for it was sometime before a physician could get to him to sew up a small artery that was severed.

McCall, who has spent all his life in the Rarden and Otway community tells his story as follows: "Otto and I had always been good friends up until last January, when I learned of his relations with my wife. I had worked for him and his brothers in their store two different times and I have a fine letter of recommendation over my name now that they gave me when I left their store the last time. I attended the cash register and kept some of their books and counted the Blackburn boys as among my best friends. I even borrowed $200 from Otto last summer to finish a special course in teaching.

Learned About His Wife

"We lived in Rarden and near the Blackburn store and it was not until January that I learned Otto had been with my wife. It was only a short time after she confessed everything to me that we both went to see Otto. I talked with him first and he told me I was crazy and did not know what I was talking about, but a few minutes later when my wife walked into the room and she confronted him with the facts, his only reply was, 'Well, Alma, I guess you have spilled the beans. Then I decided to move and it was not until February 10 that I found this empty house here and moved in the hopes of getting away from Rarden so he would not see Alma. It did not go good though, for he had been here three times in the month we had lived here. Alma told me every time he was here. She would tell me when I would come home from school in the evenings."

"Alma was gone about a day two weeks ago. I thought she was in Portsmouth, but she told me later she had been to Cincinnati, but did not say what for. Last Monday evening she told me she was going away. Naturally we had been having trouble on account of her affair with Blackburn and when she talked of leaving I thought she was just going to leave me. I thought she was going to Portsmouth to work probably, but yesterday (Friday) I learned her sister here had word from her and I talked to the merchant who received the call and he told me the call came from Cincinnati. That was the only way I knew she was not in Portsmouth."

Saw Blackburn During Day

"I don't know why Otto came to the house tonight. I was down street this afternoon about four o'clock and passed him several times and he did not say anything to me. It looks like if he wanted to see me he could have talked to me then. If looks to me like he waited until he knew I would be at home alone."

"My sister, Mary McCall, about 13, had been staying at our house about two weeks or since Alma left the first time when she stayed a day. She had been keeping house and taking care of the baby since Alma left Tuesday morning. After she told me Monday night that she was going I took the baby to Rarden to school with me Tuesday to keep Alma from taking her away with her, should she leave."

I learned Tuesday night on my return home that she was gone. "I was getting ready to rock my baby to sleep when Otto came to the front door. It must have been about seven o'clock. I opened the door when he knocked, and he asked me to come outside, saying that he had something to say to me. I told him I did not want any trouble with him and started to close the door when he pulled open the screen door and walked in and followed me to the kitchen where I took a rocking chair and started to rock my baby. He kept pacing back in the kitchen and walking around the stove. Mary was still there and Otto did not say a word to me while she was there. It was only a short time afterwards that she left for church and the minute she was gone he started in on me, calling me all kinds of vile names and everything he could think of. I did not talk back but tried to get him to sit down and told him I did not want any trouble with him. I kept on rocking the baby and he kept on talking. He must have been there about an hour and a half before Pauline fell asleep."

"I carried her into the bed room just off from the kitchen and put her on the bed. When I turned around there stood Otto in the doorway, leaning against the side of the door. He was pale and I knew when he was that way he was mad. He always gets pale and shaky when he gets mad for he used to get that way to the store. I knew he could handle me and I was afraid of him. I was afraid of him all evening and that was the reason I did not argue with him. As I stepped towards the door he grabbed me with his right hand in the left armpit of my vest. He jerked me forward and gave me a shove, knocking me to the floor, my back striking the iron bed.

Grabbed His Revolver

"I jumped up and grabbed my revolver which was hanging on a nail near the bed. Blackburn had left the door and started towards the rear door. I did not know what he was doing but expected further trouble and therefore armed myself. By the time I stepped to the doorway to go into the kitchen he appeared before me with the butcher knife in his left hand. He struck at me and when he struck I started firing. I don't know how many times I fired or where I was aiming. Blackburn fell backwards with his head towards the stove. I was greatly excited and the first thing I did was to pick up my baby, and go out the back way, where I called to the Charles Braden home. He was not home but his son Edna worth came over and within a few minutes Grover Sanderson, another friend was here and they both attended me by washing the blood off my head. They looked at Blackburn and said they thought he was dead. They then assisted me to the Braden house here and tried to get Dr. Gordon, who came later when he arrived home from Portsmouth."

McCall's vest was torn under the left arm hole, where he said Blackburn grabbed him.

The news of the shooting spread quickly and within a few minutes the McCall home was crowded with villagers. Several calls were sent to the sheriff's office. One was from Blackburn's relatives who said the body was warm and they wanted permission to move it. They were ordered to let the body remain where it fell.

Officials On The Job

Deputy Sheriffs Elza Carter and Carl Schneider and Coroner Virgil Fowler left by automobile immediately and reached the house about 10:30. The lifeless form of Blackburn was found stretched out on the kitchen floor with his feet near the bedroom door, indicating he fell backwards and did not move. The blood covered butcher knife was found clamped in his left hand with the blade pointing towards his feet. Coroner Fowler took charge of the knife and examined the body. One bullet hole was found in the side and the bullet was found lodged over the left breast. After examining the rooms the body was ordered removed to the Freeman undertaking home where the autopsy was held. The floor of the kitchen was bespattered with blood which was supposed to be from McCall's head while he was trying to wash off the wound and blind it up. A blood soaked rug was found in a cool bucket and McCall says it was used to bath his wound. Blood spots were found on a pillow on the bed and McCall says these got on the pillow when he leaned over to pick up his child. The child's dress was also spotted with blood.

Coroner Fowler in searching Blackburn's clothes found two letters one of which was posted in Cincinnati this last week. The letter will be used in the investigation of the crime. The other letter was from a young woman in Portsmouth.

Autopsy Is Held

The autopsy held by Coroner Fowler and Dr. A. R. Moore of this city and Dr. J. P. Gordon of Otway present showed that one bullet went through the right arm and entered the right side, passed through the liver and heart, shattered a rib and lodged just under the skin near the left breast. The other bullet found in the body entered the back near the spine and was kept from going through the body by heavy muscles and big bones. The third shot passed through Blackburn's right leg near the knee and then went through a pan closet and then through the floor. Three empty shells were found by the officers and three loads were found in the Colt automatic used by McCall.

Floyd Unger of this city, a cousin of Blackburn, was called by relatives of the dead man who thought there was some hope of saving him. He was told to bring a physician, ambulance and lugmotor. He made the trip with Undertaker A. P. Smalley of the Lynn morgue and Dr. Arthur Moore.

The body was removed from the Undertaker Freeman home to the Thomas undertaking home in Rarden in Lynn's ambulance. It was prepared for burial at the Thomas mortuary and was later removed to the home of the mother, Mrs. J. E. Blackburn in Rarden.

Blackburn who had spent all his life in that community was 32 years of age. He served twenty-one months in Uncle Sam's army overseas. The victim also had many relatives in Otway and spent about as much time in Otway as in Rarden. In addition to his mother he leaves a sister, Miss Ethel Blackburn who is staying in Otway, and three brothers, Conway, a merchant at Otway, Ray, a school teacher at Otway, and I. E. a banker of Ripley.

McCall is 27 years of age. His wife is 22. Her maiden name was Alma Jones and they were married when she was sixteen years old. Their daughter Pauline is four years of age. McCall and his wife have a number of relatives in the Otway and Rarden vicinity.

The McCall home is a four room frame dwelling on the bank of Bloody Run which courses through the village. Maror Mustard of Otway is a brother-in-law of McCall and he took charge of the house Sunday morning when officials ordered the place closed up.

Killing Topic of Conversation

All Otway and Rarden were talking of the killing yesterday and many from the farming community came to the village to learn the details. There were all kinds of rumors making their rounds Sunday, one being that relatives and friends of Blackburn talked late Saturday night of taking McCall from the hands of officers and handling him in their own way.

This morning when the court fixed McCall's bond at $2500 it was immediately signed by W. H. Jones, M. O. Maddy and John Reilly, well known farmers of Brush Creek township. McCall left at once for Otway with his friends.

The funeral services of Otto E. Blackburn will be conducted from his home in Rarden at 10:30 Tuesday morning and the services will be in charge of Rev. A. K. Murphy. Friends may view the body from 9 to 10 a. m. Tuesday. Burial will take place in the Rushtown cemetery at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—You have given others good advice so I would like to ask you for some information. I am a young fellow and would like to start in some business of my own and do not know what I could start at. I can do all kinds of work, I am a real handy boy and would like to have your advice.

TIMES READER.
Since you are young and inexperienced country boy and undecided about what to do, I think it would be a good idea to get a position at which you think you would like, and find out how that business is run, and "learn the ropes" as it were before starting out for yourself. For instance if you think you would like the grocery business, you should get a job in a grocery store and keep your eyes and ears open and learn how to conduct a business of that kind. Tell the big boss that you would like to learn how to buy as well as sell and in a year or two when you think you can manage a store of your own you could go back to your little village and start a store, that is if there is an opening for one. If not look around for a better place, a more suitable location. If you have any other business in mind it might be a good idea to do likewise.

Dear Dolly—To settle an argument please tell me how old Pearl White is and where she is now.

LITTLE LEADER.
Pearl White was born in Sedalia, Missouri in 1881. That would leave her 41 years of age now. She is in a convent somewhere in France at the present time, and plans to remain there indefinitely, according to a statement printed in the daily papers a few days ago.

Dear Dolly—My sister, cousin and I all dress alike, and also look alike. People think we are all the same one. Now Dolly, do you think we should continue dressing alike? We all love each other very much and all stay at the same place. Dolly, when people meet us all at the same time they are astonished and call us triplets. We are all different ages but are all the same height. Do you think it is all right to let them think so? Please give me your advice.
N. O. D. TRIPLETS.
People may think you lack individuality, but they don't think you are triplets, and you are not feeling any one but yourselves by dressing that way. I think each one of you should select her own clothes, and wear that which is most becoming instead of one trying to mimic the other.

One Who Wants to Be Fair—It depends on what you have to offer them. If you live in an up to date house in a nice neighborhood, and serve good wholesome meals, I should think $12 or $15 would be a good price if you think they can afford to pay that or if you can afford to keep them for that. You should be able to figure up what it costs you to board them without much trouble. If the child is too young to eat much that might make a difference.

Dear Dolly—Some time recently I saw a request in your column for an ezema cure and I would like to tell that person that I cured two of my children of the disease with Dr. Halsey's Ezema Salve, after all other remedies had failed to do the work. I am so grateful that I want everybody to know how they can get cured.
MRS. JI.

True Story Magazine—If you will phone 1814-L, you will get a copy of the two numbers that you inquired about.

Henpecked Wife, New Boston—If you get all the money you want to spend you don't have to act like a "chipped dog." Hire some good woman to help you with the work and step out occasionally. There is absolutely no excuse for a woman in this day and age, letting her husband and his people run over her. Give them to understand that you are boss in your own home; and see that you are the boss. They would either behave themselves when they came around or they would get orders to stay away and mind their own business. If there is anything to be done, you should be the one to do it. Don't let him squander his time and money on "painted ladies," and above all don't let him abuse you and your children.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE next adventure that Nancy and Nick had was in Sugar-Plum Land.

The Fairy Queen sent them there because King Gingerbread owned a knick-knack dog, and the Cut-Out Lady, who did his mending, owned a coconut cat, and the two of them fought so that the knick-knack dog and the coconut cat flew all over the place and got into the eyes and ears and mouths of the Sugar-Plum Landers.

"Sugar-Plum Land has always been a peaceful place," declared the Fairy Queen indignantly, "and there isn't a particle of sense in allowing two silly animals to carry on so."

Besides, as trouble always does, it not only upset the two trouble-makers, but also their owners.
The Cut-Out Lady who owned the coconut cat was so upset when her pet came limping home with most of the coconut barked off him, that she almost cried her one eye out. Then, of course, having no other eye to see with, she couldn't see the king's buttons on straight and that would miss the buttocks by an inch or more.

And when the king got up in the morning and went to put on clothes out of his candy-box bureau drawer his face filled shirts (made out of candy-box trimmings) and a red tarlatan coat (made out of a Christmas tree stocking) both buttoned on as crooked as a pig's tail and made him look shocking.

As a result, his temper was quite testy. And he made laws that nobody could obey, and things got into an awful fix.

"See what you can do, kiddies," said the Fairy Queen kindly. "Your magic shoes will take you there in a twinkling. Sugar-Plum Land lies north of Soda-Water Ocean, south of Custard-Sauce Sea, and directly between Caster Land and Plaster Land."

"Well, didn't I?" said Nancy happily. "And we'll try as hard as we can to put things to rights."

TABERNACLE FILLED SUNDAY; TWO GREAT SERMONS DELIVERED

Men's Meeting Is Held In Afternoon; No Services Tonight

(BY A. P. HAIGHT)

With the triumph of the men's meeting on Sunday afternoon, and with an audience of three thousand or more, the men's meeting was held last night. Dr. Anderson was inspired to preach the message of the whole world, and the subject dealt with heroes, and there is always an appeal in the heroic, and a sort of worship for the hero.

The thrilling incident of the three Hebrew children being cast into the fiery furnace because of their refusal to bow down to the image which the king had set up, being the base of his message.

In presenting this incident, the evangelist touched here and there, painting the landscape, making the realism as only one familiar with the topography of the land could do. The audience saw the great image which Nebuchadnezzar had built in celebration of victory. Great crowds, beautiful dress, display of finery, it was a great day, a gala day, one never to be forgotten. It never was.

The king, or, thought he was, perhaps a hundred thousand, of his subjects demanded something. The king thought that it should be homage to him. He gave command. "At the sound of the music, bow down." The thousands heard the command. Those who sought favor could hardly wait. At the sound of the music they bowed, all but three. The Hebrew boys. Then it was that the king gave a command with a deadly intent. "If you don't bow down, you will be cast into the fiery furnace." Still the Hebrews refused to obey the edict. The penalty must be carried out. The three boys were cast into the furnace which was so hot that the flames consumed those who executed the king's command. The king saw four in the furnace, "and one was like unto the Son of God." The boys came out. No harm, not even the smell of fire on their garments. The boys were heroes, and their God was recognized as the all powerful.

With this story told in bits, with strong pictures of present day life thrown in, Dr. Anderson called attention to the fact that though there had been a vast number of those who did bow down to the image, not a single name was recorded, while but three stood upright for the thing they knew to be right and their names had come down the ages. The king came to the command of Satan. Just bow down when you hear music. Easy to take the first step toward hell. The fiery furnace was the penalty for those who refused to bow. Multitudes of those who are trying to serve God, the scandal, the gossip, the lies, all the mean things represented the fuel that kindled the furnace. The king said to the people, "Do not bow down to the image, but bow down to the standard of society." But in concluding, he impressed his hearers with the great thought that, no matter how hot the flame, if the trust is in God, the God of our fathers, the Son of God will walk by the side of him who is cast into the fiery furnace and he will come out unharmed, while those who cast him in will be consumed by the flames.

The evening sermon:

THE FIERY FURNACE

(Copyright, 1923, George Wood Anderson.)

"Be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up." Daniel 3:18.

The world loves the hero because he is a child, not of today or a century but because he is a child of all the days of all the centuries. The heroes never grow old. The flush of youth never leaves his cheek, and the flush of enthusiasm never fades from his lustrous eyes. His hair may become white but it does not lose the work of years. It is the white details of the world that honor has need of his head. His brow may become deep furrowed but not with advancing age. Those coronations are only the prints of the golden crown that he has laid aside that unclouded and unclouded he might continue his works of sacrifice and love. There is never any mark of age upon the heroes and every youth finds in them nothing in time, custom or nationality that separates one from another or places them beyond the attainments of his own far reaching aspirations.

the kings of Egypt and establishing the lives of nations, was a Jew, Daniel, the father of poetry and the day-spring of the Renaissance, was an Englishman. Luther, the hero of the Reformation, who so wonderfully changed the current of all history, was a German. Socrates, the philosopher, was a Greek. John Knox, the reformer, was a Scot. Oliver Cromwell, the restorer, was an Englishman. Lincoln, the emancipator, was an American; yet who ever thinks of these being any difference in age, color or nationality or tongue, among these men? They were all children of perpetual youth and never grew old. They tasted of the waters of heronism and though the hair may whiten and the forehead furrow, they are all in the flush of youth, joining hands side by side, walking through the sunlit fields of the centuries calling to every youth and maiden to taste of the same waters and join their immortal companionship.

Book Is Power of Heroic

To each thoughtful man and woman these heroes have a message and a drawing power. As the sea waves feel in each moon beam a silver strand that it binds, in deathless grasp and sweeps them onward with the passion of a tireless tide, so the heart of every man and woman finds itself bound with a silver cord that draws it toward the fields of triumph and conflict.

For our answer, let us turn to this book of heroes. It is the power of the heroic that makes the incident of my text so thrilling tonight. To celebrate one of his victories Nebuchadnezzar, their king, decided to erect a monument of gold, nine feet in diameter and ninety feet in height in the valley of Dura, where, from the valleys and the hillside the assembled multitude could behold his beauty. Magnificent beyond words was the vision that greeted the eyes of the assembled multitude when the day of its unveiling arrived. In the shadow of the golden image, on a newly wrought throne, sat the king. Above him, arranged in rows according to their rank, were all the richly robed princes and governors and judges and treasurers and counselors and officers of the vast empire. Rows after rows, division after division, of people adorned in robes that extended across the narrow valley and far up the sides of the hills, a great ocean of beauty and splendor whose waves were crested with gold and purple and scarlet, swept through the valley and surged in billows of splendor about the throne and the image. It was an hour of triumph for the king, for does not every one in the progress of the nation? There is not a shadow in the sky, there is not an unresponsive face in the audience, yet, there is a shadow on the king's face. A doubt has crept into his heart. He sees that the people appreciate his gift but he is wondering if they reverence his work as they might. There is only one thing that can take the cloud away from his heart, and that is to behold them proving his gift by appreciation but the king, giving to his gift not only the appreciation of the intellect but the reverence and worship of the soul. He whispers to an attendant, and soon the messengers fly to all parts of the multitude to stand guard while the sainted announces the wishes of the king. At the sound of the music each one must fall face to the ground and worship the golden image. All who refused would be cast into the fiery furnace. A hush of death falls on the assembled hosts, and they leaned forward to catch the first strain of the music. The king gave the signal and, arising from the trembling lips of the cornet, and the vibrant string of the harp, came the sound of the sweetest music. It floats like a spirit of life, it floats outward in an ever-widening circle, one column of people after another, column of people, one by one, its sweetness and truth themselves prostrate on the earth, the swaying of their colored robes looking like the moving of the sea waves when kissed by the glory of the setting sun. But in the sight of the king there was nothing to spoil it all. Yonder on the outskirts of the crowd, across the low level of the kneeling multitudes, tall and erect, stood the three slave boys.

Three Boys Refuse

Who were they? Three slave boys whom the king had favored above some of the people of his own land. They were worshippers of God and not of golden images. They could give mental assent to his work but not the homage of their souls. In a moment they had played themselves among the immortals.

See Jesus in Others

The only way some men will ever see a Christ will be through the lives of those who are strong and firm enough to serve God at any cost. No one ever serves Christ in that way who does not reveal Christ to others.

Beholding the four men walking through those golden billows, of flame the king laid them come out, and, but as they came there was not even the smell of smoke upon their garments. All the scorn and evil

Sparks From The Anvil Of Geo. Wood Anderson

Sin does not remove strength as a dentist removes teeth. We never know when it is done.

A man will lie down in sin knowing that it means death and will curse the preacher who awakes him.

Sin blinds a man so that he cannot see the things worth while.

Sin is never satisfied with criticism. It must go to extremes.

The furnace that sin builds always kills.

The flames of God's wrath kill only those who kindle them.

Every boy and girl has the companionship of the heroes and great men of the past.

The Books of Books contains many thrilling and heroic incidents.

If we refuse to sin the world will cast us into the fiery furnace of criticism and ridicule.

You cannot lose faith in God without losing faith in man.

No man is going to be satisfied with the applause of the people because there is always somebody who won't clap.

cism of the world can never harm those who are true to God. They are the honored ones. Christ walks with them and when the world belittles the Divine power that accompanies them, they are led to forsake their claim of citizenship in the true God. Behold the king bowing in reverence before the throne of Jehovah and see what three slave boys can do by being faithful to their God.

Sunday afternoon before that huge assembly of men in the big garage, Dr. Anderson, at the conclusion of a spirited song service in which the men joined heartily, brought his great message, "Grinding Grain for the Devil's Bread."

The sermon is a picture of the boy Samson, with all his advantages of a Christian home, fine teaching and Godly parents, his career as a fighter, his fall and death. In like manner he brought out that Samson with all his strength could not tamper with sin and the worldly pleasures without paying the price which he did with great suffering and finally death brought an end to what should have been a most brilliant career. Sin caused Samson's eyes to be put out with hot irons, so sin always blinds the sinner to the things worth while. The weakness of men in thinking that they are strong enough to tamper with sin and get by with, generally costs them their sight and finally requires their life also. Many men responded to the call. But the sermon tells the story:

GRINDING GRAIN FOR THE DEVIL'S BREAD

(Copyright, 1923, George Wood Anderson.)

(TEXT: And he did grind in the prison house." Judges 16:21.)

No man ever started out in life with better prospects than did Samson. He was blessed with Godly parents, and taught in his boyhood hours by a God-fearing father and mother to love God. Some boys never have a fair chance in life; their fathers are godless and their mothers are worldly; from childhood they are familiar with nothing but drink and profanity and Sabbath desecration, and a premium has always been placed upon wickedness. We must not be surprised when sons of such parents go to prison or to the electric chair. The man who called them into the world has done nothing but push them toward hell.

Samson had a good start because of good parents. He was always made to feel that great things were expected of him for his name meant: "He shall serve as the sun." He was raised a Nazirite, carefully guarded from all uncleanness and dissipation, growing to manhood strong, powerful, athletic, ready to do a man's full share of hard work in times of peace or to make heroic battle in times of war.

Conquers Wild Beast.

He began his life of conquest on a journey taken in company with his father and mother. He was on a journey toward the city of his heart's desire, and his heart was filled high with hope. I suppose that the sun never shines on the lands that it is leaving but only of the lands that it is awakening, for every second is sunrise to someone. The sun always sees the world waking up. So with often prove the fighting power in the body. It often means you are inactive, nervous, minus red-blood cells to your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious. Be realistic, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood cells, you begin to become plump. That's why S. S. S. is sold in such vast quantities. It is the only medicine that builds up the body of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Yellow checks fill out. You stop being a thin, bony-looking, you become confident. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firm, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too. All over your body. More red-blood cells, S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a plump, bony face doesn't mean you look very important or proper, does it? Take S. S. S. S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again

With God there is no work of strength and goodness that he cannot do. Now let us see what a strong man may accomplish when he gives himself to the devil. If ever there was a man great enough to cope with the devil and stand his pleasures without paying the price, it was this young hero of strong body, good blood and clear intellect. The temple came to him saying: "Your life of righteousness is a strenuous one and you need the pleasant pleasures that sin can give. Taste of the cup of worldly enjoyment." He looked and the pathway seemed pleasant, the face of temptation and temptress seemed fair; instead of warfare there was laughter, song and music. From the paths of goodness he turned aside for a little season to see what the world had to offer. He had tasted of the honey that came from the crevices of the plain flow, and had drunk deep of the waters that burst in crystal clearness from the crags where it was which he had made battle for his

Evangelist Anderson Had Strenuous Sunday, Dead Tired But Happy, Says Sheridan

(BY F. W. SHERIDAN)

As there's a harvest band at the setting of an August sun, his collar as limp as a sponge, with great beads of perspiration standing out on his clean cut features, but with a smile playing around his honest eyes, Dr. George Wood Anderson closed the biggest day of the Portsmouth crusade at the new garage, last night. It was a day of triumphs and a night of halcyons, for waves of converts surged toward the front, testimonies that he had sent his message straight to center and that the harvest was going to be one of plenty. Those ministers of the associated churches linked up in the crusade declared it to be a Pentecostal day for the Portsmouth City and are honest in their expressed belief that the tide is going to carry on and on until there will be such a rejoicing that will shake the splendid old city from center to circumference and the regions round about.

While the afternoon meeting was a great affair, with nearly 2,000 men in the tabernacle, the night meeting was the climax of the doings of the day. The big auditorium was jammed from entrance to exits, and that those present were there on business bent was not only shown by the great response, but the way the personal workers got busy and scuttled through the throng like bees in a clover field. And, glory be, the budget was met by the great offering on Sunday night. No longer will the tin pans be passed around—no longer will those ribboned ushers be ordered to take up offerings for current expense, for according to Treasurer Frank E. Klefer, the receipts of Sunday put the game over the top in a financial sense and now the one thing that is left is to bring the sheaves for the harvest. There were many amens and shouts of victory when the news leaked out that the people had responded to the clarion call for money as sent out by Rev. Tillis and General Chairman John T. Breece, backed up by a few choice remarks on the part of Chorister Walter Jenkins. With the money raised, the track is cleared for a through trip to Glory Land, and judging from the way the converts boarded the through train Sunday afternoon and night, Conductor Anderson and his willing aides are going to be kept busy the entire trip taking tickets.

Yes, the Belle Center evangelist was tired last night—dead tired. He had put in his hardest day's work. Not only had he delivered two stirring addresses, but his plans to the unsaved were fraught with fervor and his energies were taxed to the limit. But he came through in wonderfully fine shape and was refreshed people. Now he would relax. He would see what sin had to offer. He began as every man begins, with pleasant sins. No man chooses a disagreeable sin to begin with, and it was not long until battery had won from him the secret of his strength and he was contented to lie down and rest his head in the lap of pleasure. He tried sin as an experiment, now he was satisfied and contented. He was confident of his strength. Sinful associations were pleasant, and when he would become weary of them, as all men expect to be weary of sin, he would cast them aside, as all men expect to cast sin aside. What was this fruit woman compared with the thousands he had slain? He was sure of himself, and it was not long until he felt that there was no need of keeping guard over himself, and so lying upon the lap of sinful pleasure, he fell asleep.

Men's danger is when he refuses to take warning. Go to Samson and tell him that the enemy has been waiting for such an hour, and that, if he carries long he will lose all his strength. But a man given to worldly pleasure is a spiritual sluggard, and he cries out: "Yet a little more sleep, a little more slumber, a little more folding of the hands in sleep." He had stopped watching. He had stopped praying. "Wake up, Samson! There is danger." But he is contented with sin as many a man indeed by the great numbers who wended their way forward and clasped his honest hands.

The men's meeting in the afternoon at 2:30 was no doubt handicapped by the incessant downpour. It rained continuously and copiously—there was no let up before or after, but the fact that fully 2,000 were there showed to what momentum the crusade had reached. In his sermon to men, Dr. Anderson shot hard and true. His talk on the life of Samson had the right food for great big stalwart men, and when he gave the call, from all over the city, big bunches of big men came, and they came like they meant business and knew exactly what they were doing. It was one of the greatest responses of the entire crusade and there is no question but there will be better husbands and better fathers, better sons in this man's town. It was a great sight to see a small boy leading his father toward the conversion section. And this should be placed in the plural, for there were fully thirty fathers and sons that came. Dr. Anderson's sermon was clean cut in every way—no snuff, no vulgarity, no suggestiveness—just an appeal for men to lead the kind of lives their wives and mothers wanted them to live.

At night the place was packed, despite the rain. Had a politician been greeted by such a throng, he would have declared the election was as good as won. And it was a demonstrative crowd—really, I began to have a feeling there was to be something. As the converts increased in number the amens are louder and more numerous, and one good sister said to me last night that she was just about ready to shout. The singing was inspiring as was the sermon. To look such a great multitude in the face—to see the earnestness expressed thereon is a treat—to see how the people hang onto the words of the evangelist fastens itself on one's memory so indelibly that it will ever remain there—it's great to sit with the preachers, in the choir or at the reporter's desk—come around and have a look. There was quite a shivering among the newspaper fraternity last night when after Jenkins had compelled the ministers to sing he looked askance at newspaper row. I thought the stuff was off right then and there, but being of a kindly disposition, the Oregon wonder thought to spare the audience and he sang himself instead—good old Walt. The first time he asked that bunch of newspaper men to sing, there'll be one freshman that I know pretty well who'll be lost to view in a cloud of dust. The others may toe the scratch—I'll not be there to see, and thank heavens I won't be there to hear.

Observations of a Reporter

Main. Many will stay away. There's machines enough to carry a pretty big crowd. Big bunch of men for a rainy afternoon. Bunches. Men must be in groups. They came in spite of rain. Man repeating every word after the preacher. Boy starts cheers as men come forward. Large number of men.

It is night. Still raining. Surely will affect audience. Water falling in sheets near end of drive. Weather doesn't keep folk from going where they want to go. Tabernacle filled. Time to start. Light glistening on glasses—"specs." Not many fans. Man wearing single rose. Prayer. All heads bowed. Preachers sing. Man with eyebrow on his upper lip. Poudrour seems to be the prevailing style of combing the hair among high school boys. (Siber adjusting slaver). What would have happened if it hadn't rained? Last collection. People wiggle a bit as they take their seat. Lot of coughs. Had to bring out.

WIND UNROOFS SOUTH PORTSMOUTH SCHOOL BUILDING

One Pupil Instantly Killed; Two Others May Die; Many Are Pinned Beneath It

One child, Dennis Boggs, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Boggs, residents of Beattyville, just below South Portsmouth, was instantly killed at 7:50 a. m. Monday, two others were seriously injured, and the lives of many other children were imperiled when they were pinned under the roof of the Beattyville grade and high school building, which the high wind lifted up and sent crashing down on the children as they were playing in the yard east of the building. They had no warning and before they could get out of the path of the big roof they were pinned beneath it.

The chimney caught the Boggs child and he met instant death, his head being crushed and his neck broken. It was sometime before his body could be dug out of the mass of brick and mortar which covered it.

Donald Skuggs Boggs, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boggs, and a cousin of the boy who was killed, suffered the fracture of both legs and an arm.

Christie Anderson, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson, who live just east of South Portsmouth, suffered a broken left foot, a cut on his head and was injured internally.

Mrs. Anderson is employed in the Selby shoe plant and the father in the Whitaker-Gessner plant.

James Lewis, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lewis, was injured internally.

COUGH KEMP'S BALSAM

Other children who were injured were Edward, Edna and Delbert Fannin, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fannin, who live near the school building. They were among those pinned under the roof, but were not seriously hurt, suffering minor bruises and cuts about the face, head and arms. They were later able to walk to their home.

Andrew Wilburn, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilburn, was hurt about the head and back.

Goldie Pennington, aged 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pennington, was injured, but not seriously.

Emory Jarrells, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jarrells, was injured about the head and arms.

A short time after the accident occurred many neighbors arrived and helped to rescue the children, who were pinned under the roof. Their cries could be heard for some distance and it was first thought that five or six had been killed outright.

J. T. Henderson, one of the teachers, was among the first on the scene.

Piles

and with the assistance of other teachers, neighbors and older pupils, the roof was finally lifted off the children. Then it was learned that only one had been killed, but many others had been injured; two seriously.

Relatives upon learning of the accident ran all the way to the building and pleaded with the men present to hurry the task of lifting the roof off their loved ones.

The moans and cries of the children could be plainly heard above the high wind, which caused the accident, and the moments were tense ones to panic-stricken mothers until they learned that their children had not been seriously hurt. The injured were cared for as quickly as possible, after being carried to the homes of neighbors.

Dr. Meadows of Pullerton and Dr. Edgington of South Portsmouth were soon upon the scene and after attending the children had them removed to their homes.

They stated that the Boggs and Anderson pupils are badly injured, but it is not believed their injuries will prove fatal.

Many of the relatives of the school children, who work in Portsmouth, rushed to the C. & O. ferry landing this morning, only to learn that the ferry was unable to make a trip across the river, it being too rough.

It was out of the question to row across the river and the relatives were almost frantic until they learned that early reports of the accident had been exaggerated.

All the neighbors opened their homes to the injured pupils and did everything possible to alleviate their pain. It was a most distressing sight to see the little ones vainly trying to crawl from beneath the heavy roof.

Had the accident occurred just a little later, when the school yard would have been filled with pupils, it would have been more serious.

There were rumors current Monday about the manner in which the building was erected, but little credence was given to them by the school board members, who stated that every phase of the accident would be investigated. The teachers in the old and new buildings are J. T. Henderson, Wm. Webb, Mrs. Nettie McElhane, Miss Farrell Williams and Miss Eloise Webb. Several teachers and pupils were in the building when it was unroofed, but were not injured.

Several times after the accident the C. & O. ferry made futile attempts to cross the river to accommodate relatives, but each time the boat was compelled to return to its moorings, the wind being too strong.

Three Pullman Cars And Day Coach On N. & W. Train Derailed; No One Hurt

Three Pullman cars and a day coach attached to passenger train No. 4 N. & W., were derailed near Haverhill early Sunday morning. The passengers were shaken up, but none was hurt according to N. & W. officials.

It was stated that the derailment was due to a broken rail. Luckily the train, which was in charge of Engineer Myers of Columbus and Conductor Hasellett, of this city, was not traveling at a high rate of speed when the cars left the rails.

They were pulled along on the ties for some distance and traffic on the east and west tracks was delayed until 6:30 Sunday morning.

No. 4 left here at 12:05 a. m. Sunday for Norfolk, but was delayed four hours by the wreck.

Want Permanent Roads Built; Secure Injunction Against Court

As a first round of what they term "a fight to insure a program of permanent road building as against a policy of frittering away the road money with little to show for it in the end," a temporary injunction was secured by Greenup county citizens in Judge L. E. Nichols' court at Greenup, Saturday, restraining the Greenup county fiscal court from spending any of the recent $200,000 good roads bond issue except under the jurisdiction of the Kentucky State Highway department. The hearing on the application for a permanent injunction will come up in May.

According to the petitioners, who are among the leading citizens of the county, the conditions under which the bond issue was approved provided that the money was not only to be expended in establishment of "hard" roads, but that it must be expended under the supervision of the state highway department. They expect to push the matter to a definite conclusion, as they feel that the whole proposition of good roads in the county is involved in the present controversy.

"If we do not expend this money just as provided in the bond issue, and if we do not establish permanent roads, the cause of good roads will suffer," said one of the petitioners this morning. "We feel this is the time when a definite policy must be decided upon, and are confident we are in the right."

Among those who signed the petition were L. B. Wells, of Mackay, Ky., Simon Pitch of Mackay, Edward Arnold, of Mackay, Joe Richardson of Pullerton, R. S. Glover, of Pullerton, W. T. Hardin, of Pullerton, S. T. Reeder, of South Portsmouth, Mat Hanson of South Portsmouth, R. O. Dairon and W. H. Flannigan, of Siloam.

A Supreme Test!

Baldwin Concert Grand triumphantly withstands heavy work of New Crusade Revivals despite unfavorable conditions

Manufacturers are somewhat reluctant to subject their instruments to the tremendous demands that these revivals call for in view of the fact that the pianos are located in immense auditoriums, usually hastily constructed, which do not protect the instruments in the manner as they should be. It calls for extraordinary strength and standing qualities in the instrument. After three weeks of usage the BALDWIN PIANO has stood the Supreme Test. Even when the congregation joined in the singing the tones of this great instrument were heard throughout this tremendous auditorium. Thousands have marveled at its wonderful tone, singing qualities and its carrying powers. Few, if any, could stand the test that this instrument has been subjected to.

Below we are reprinting appreciations from the Rev. Geo. ood Anderson, B. D. Ackley, the pianist, and Walter R. Jenkins, director of the choir.

A pleasant downtown office; a friendly and obliging office staff; an excellent financial service for personal use.

A modern firm for a modern purpose.

WANTED—Boards at 715 Chillicothe Street. 11-11

WANTED—To interview men who want to increase their earnings on part of full time. See Mr. Bowles, 404 Masonic Bldg., anytime before 9 P. M. Monday. 11-11

WANTED—We will back any real man or woman for the first few months to the extent of paying you 30 per cent. commission on every dollar's worth of our goods you sell. We want you to sell FOOD-STUFFS (not luxuries) and our goods have been known in Portsmouth and vicinity for years. You may be using them yourself at the present time. Any worthy man or woman who lives in Portsmouth or in any town within 50 miles of Portsmouth, we are extending to you this opportunity to work up a profitable business that will pay a real hustler big money in a short time. To qualify you must have an auto or horse and rig suitable for delivery purposes, be able to furnish bond, and house to house canvassing experience would be a great help, but this experience is not necessary if you SINCERELY WANT TO ASSOCIATE YOURSELF WITH AN HONEST TO GOODNESS PROPOSITION. We will see that you make good. We will courteously consider your application. Call or write Grand Union Tea Co. 1834 Clinton Avenue. 11-11

Market News

SPECIAL NOTE
Due to the high winds interfering with wire communication the stock list was not received today.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—Opening prices in today's stock market were reactionary in response to a large volume of week-end selling orders, some of the liquidation activity being due to disturbances in the occupied sections of Germany. United States Steel advanced 1/4 on announcement of an increase of 375,231 tons of unfilled orders, but the independent steel ground. Canadian Pacific, Baldwin and some of the minor oils moved to higher ground but American Locomotive, American Woolen and the coppers were heavy.

In the first few minutes losses of 1/4 of a point or more were established by New York Central, Chicago Northwestern, California Petroleum, Rockwell, Typecase and Stoss-Sheffield Steel, the last named dropping 2 points. Supporting orders made their appearance and prices again started upward. Gulf States Steel canceled its early loss and advanced a point while American Can, Pan American, B. Texas and Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, American Smelting and American Tobacco sold 1/4 to a point higher. Foreign exchanges opened steady, the sterling selling around $4.70 1/2 and French francs around 6.05 cents. British demonstration in suppers, motors, motor accessories and market.

Scouting Tests Mind And Muscle Of Boys, Writer Says

(This article is written in the interest of Scouting in Portsmouth, by L. T. Henderson, Executive of Portsmouth Council Boy Scouts of America.)

Scouting is the process of making real men out of real boys by a real program that works. As a Scout a boy willingly adopts as vital the universally accepted principles of life set forth in the Scout Oath and Law. He first becomes a "tenderfoot," then

OBITUARY

Edward J. Doyle

Death Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, claimed Edward J. Doyle, aged 40, who passed away very suddenly at the family residence, 1908 Gallia street. He had been ill several weeks with grip, but his condition was not considered serious. He was seized with an attack of heart trouble Sunday afternoon and soon passed away. News of this popular young man's death came as a shock to his wide circle of friends.

Mr. Doyle was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle, his mother passing away last July. He is survived by two brothers, James, of Covington, Ky.; William T., of Ninth street, and the following sisters: Mrs. Margaret Foster of Columbus; Mrs. Henry Frowine of Second street, and the Misses Blanch and Anna at home.

Mr. Doyle for 17 years was a valued employee of the Tracy Shoe Company, and after leaving this firm he worked in the Whitaker-Glessner plant for four years. At the time of his death he was an assistant superintendent in the big steel plant in Massillon, O. He came home a month ago after being seized with grip and apparently was improving until he developed heart trouble.

Mr. Doyle received his education in the Holy Redeemer school and was a graduate of the Portsmouth College of Business. He was one of the city's most highly regarded men and the news of his death brought sorrow to many.

Mr. Doyle was affable and congenial at all times and will be missed. He was a life long member of the Holy Redeemer church.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Holy Redeemer church at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday. The last rites will be in charge of Rev. J. E. McQuirk and interment will be in Greenlawn.

Dawn Dolores Delaney

Dawn Dolores Delaney, infant daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delaney (Violet Wheeler) of 2126 Gallia street at Mercy Hospital died shortly after birth and was buried Saturday afternoon. The child was their first born and the parents have the sympathy of their many friends.

hours out of twenty-four of leisure time which can be used for some activity. Scouting has been said, is a "leisure time program" with a motive.

Boys are not naturally bad. If they are shown how, they would rather do something worth while, if it is as much fun. Scouting is the greatest game in the world, the getting acquainted with the out of doors with its many wonders and the discovery that it is fun to serve others.

What's of more value than a boy? When developed and trained he becomes a family asset, a community asset and a national asset. You can render great service to the Nation by helping to develop its future citizens. This demand of ours will fall if we do not prepare our boys to preserve it. What shall it profit a community to gain the whole world and lose its own boys?

This is a personal message to every reader. It is part of your responsibility. You can help in some way if you will. The least you can do to it "say a good word for Scouting."

a "second class Scout," then a "first class Scout," after this he may qualify for any of the sixty blue merit badges which call for special interests and talents. The opportunity and incentive for progress is always at hand.

Scouting is a splendidly organized game with all the zest of competition, the finest test of co-operation and a keen testing of mind and muscle. It is a constructive game, it gets some where. But Scouting is more than a game. It teaches signallng, first aid, camp craft, life saving, nature study, observation, and a host of other useful and important things. It teaches self reliance and initiative.

The Scout Movement is not strictly limited by law and the regulations of banking departments to the classes of investments and loans that will give the utmost assurance of their safety, either under good and skillful banking management, or the reverse. The result is that there is left vacant a large field of legitimate business requiring capital, which can safely, it intelligently, loaned, but which does not possess the essential elements of a bond loan.

Locally, several churches have scout troops and several more will have in the near future. The boy need not go far from home. He could be enrolled with his own "gang." The gang will be glad to get in and have their fun organized and promoted.

Scouting is not a kids' affair. It is an organization of men and boys, one man for every four boys. It is "the man in the boy linked up with the boy in the man."

Every boy at about the age of twelve begins to form contacts away from home. Will those contacts be such that he will be a better citizen for them? Every boy has about eight

Mrs. Josephine Sheskey

Word was received here today of the death of Mrs. Josephine Sheskey, who died at her home in Columbus Sunday. Mrs. Sheskey was the mother of Michael Sheskey, of Butcher, O., who married Clara Schell of this city. Mrs. Sheskey and relatives had visited the Schell family on Harvard street several times.

Richard Benton Grimshaw

Richard Benton Grimshaw was born August 29, 1860, and died March 6, 1923, aged 62 years, 6 months and 8 days. He was the son of Richard and Nancy Grimshaw. In 1881 he was united in marriage to Mary Emma Clark and to this union were born the following children: Clinton, of Blue Run; Floyd of Portsmouth; and Earl at home. Besides his faithful wife and children to mourn his death, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nancy Strimatter, of Hoquiem, Wash., and Mrs. Alice Schuler of Scioto Twp. Also nine grand-children and a host of friends. Mr. Grimshaw joined the Methodist church at Blue Run several years ago and was a faithful and active member in the church and Sunday School until his death.

Mr. Grimshaw was active in every movement for the betterment of his community and the uplift of humanity. He was a trustee and one of the leaders in the building of the new Blue Run church of which the community may be justly grateful. He was also active in the work of the School Board of the township, being clerk of the same. No one could be more missed from his place.

The church he sacrificed so much to build was filled to its capacity with those desiring to pay their last respects to the one whom they so highly honored, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Joseph A. Bretz. Interment was in the Lucasville cemetery.

William Keeney

Death about ten o'clock last night claimed William Keeney at his home, 407 Ohio avenue, New Boston. He was found dead in bed by his wife, who had talked to him just before he went to sleep about 7:30 o'clock. Death was due to paralysis after a ten years' illness. He had not been able to walk for a long time and was seriously ill two weeks.

Mr. Keeney was 83 years of age and was a farmer in Greenup county for a number of years, moving to New Boston over a year ago. He is survived by his widow and three children Henry of Portsmouth, Mrs. Warner Atkins of New Boston and Charley at home.

Tonight at the Columbia Theatre Kline's Living Models' Promenade, Promptly at Seven and Nine O'clock

Unfolding the panorama of the world fashions. Modes fresh from the fashion centers of America, are ready for your inspection tonight at the Columbia Theatre with a specially arranged program, that will afford an evening of real entertainment and a treat to all who attend.

Season after season, the KLINE STORE has maintained an enviable position as the source of ultra smart fashions.

It is gratifying to know, that our former STYLE SHOWS have been so favorably received, and this time it prompted us to perform something unusual, unique and entirely different from anything ever staged by us heretofore.

May we add, that the entire performance is in full charge of Miss Florence Schoeffield Young and needless to say that she has a very appropriate program arranged for this occasion, as may be fully expected by all who know her previous performances. The cast in all contains eighteen people, including Coached Models and Dancers.

Mr. Laudeman with his special orchestra, also promises some real musical numbers for this special occasion. In all, it is a KLINE EVENT, staged and arranged in the KLINE WAY.

INTERPRETING THE SEASON IN TERMS OF STYLE!

SPRING—the season when the whole world seems to have transformed and taken a new lease on life, we find too that the glory of the season has been reflected in the mirror of fashion and a New Mode established.

Thus it is, that this store has taken on an entirely new aspect in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Stocks are brimful of all that is new in fashion's way—and courteous, helpful service will make your inspection one of pleasure and profit.

Bad Fight On "Y" Road

According to motorists, who were eye witnesses to the affair, a desperate fight took place on the "Y" road leading to the West Side from the city Sunday afternoon, with a married man and a young single man as the principals. Both were badly beaten up it was reported, but the married man was declared the winner. They had accused each other of sundry things and decided to go to the "Y" road to fight it out. And they fought to their hearts' content.

Fire Wipes Out Home

Fire completely destroyed the four room log home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gifford on Lick Run about eight o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Gifford and eighteen months old daughter were out of the house at the time of the fire, and Mr. Gifford was busy about the barn. He had been out of the house about 15 minutes when he looked out and saw smoke pouring from it. It was a solid mass of flame inside and they did not save anything except the clothes they were wearing.

Negro Goes On A Rampage

New Boston police had a real job on their hands Saturday afternoon when they attempted to place Johnny Bird, colored, under arrest. Officer Leslie Harris and Fire Chief Starns made the trip to Bird's boarding house in Lakeside when a call reached the police station that Bird was on a rampage. When the place was reached Bird was found on a bed with about twenty other negroes trying to hold him. He was finally handcuffed and his feet were tied with ropes and he then had to be tied in the motorcycle side car to be taken to the village jail. His brother told officers that Bird had gotten hold of some moonshine and that he always gets "crazy" when he drinks too much. Dr. T. H. McCann attended Bird and Monday before Mayor W. E. Newberry he was fined $10.00.

Steel Job House Sold

CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—(By The Associated Press)—The J. T. Renshaw Company, Chicago, iron and steel jobbers will today take over the Cincinnati Iron and Steel Company, one of the largest iron and steel warehousing concerns in the midwest.

Negotiations for the acquisition of the Cincinnati company have been concluded, the consideration involved approximately $2,000,000, it is stated. In announcing the sale last night, Harry C. Busch, president of the Cincinnati company, said the papers closing the deal were signed here yesterday.

It is learned that the Cincinnati warehouse will be operated as one of the warehouse branches of the Renshaw Company, which already has warehouses in New York, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis.

DAMAGE FOLLOWS IN WAKE OF SEVERE WIND

Considerable damage was reported in various sections of the city as a result of the high wind which prevailed Monday and at times attained almost cyclonic proportions. It was one of the strongest winds in many months.

A number of signs and trees blown down, windows shattered and much damage resulted to roofs. Tree limbs were scattered about the city at the wind played havoc with them. The oldest resident had to stop and think when a stronger wind prevailed.

The street railway was handicapped by two short circuits, one which occurred at Tenth and Offshore streets and one a short time later at Eleventh and Chillicothe streets. Until these repairs could be made electric current was cut off in certain downtown sections.

Display windows of the Inter-City Tea store and Youngman's Sales company in the Lehman property on Gallia street were shattered by the wind.

One of the windows of the Distel Furniture Co. Seventh and Chillicothe street was also broken by a gust of wind.

The wind was so strong that it blew heavy packages off the express wagon John Weinberg was driving on Chillicothe street this morning.

A sign of R. F. Seiler, Chillicothe street music dealer was blown down. Lamps from a cluster light in front of the Security bank were shattered. A number of other cluster lamps were also broken.

The Home and Bell telephone companies had all their "trouble men" on the job Monday as many of their lines were damaged.

BOY IS PINNED
BENEATH BILLBOARD

Paul Lewis, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Lewis of 2014 Vinton avenue was injured about 8:15 o'clock this morning when high wind blew down part of the big metal billboard on Grant and Grandview avenues, the billboard catching Lewis and pinning him to the sidewalk. Employees of the Mount Park Pharmacy rushed to the aid of the boy and took him to the drug store where Dr. W. W. Smith attended him.

He was enroute to Highland school and was walking backwards on the north side of Grant just west of Grandview when the part of the billboard was blown down. The boy suffered cuts on his right cheek, over the eye, about the mouth, and bruises on the right thigh and left knee.

To Seek Injunction

CLEVELAND, O., March 12.—(By The Associated Press)—City council will apply to the state supreme court for an order restraining the East Ohio Gas Company from withdrawal of natural gas from Cleveland on May 1, as a last resort, according to Clayton C. Townsend, president of the council. This is the program, if all negotiations fail, Mr. Townsend declared in a debate on the gas question last night. "And I do not think the court will rule against the city of Cleveland," he added.

Mr. Townsend said that the council at its meeting tonight would override Mayor Keller's veto of the Marshall ordinance, calling for an initial rate of 40 cents per thousand cubic feet, and pass the ordinance over the mayor's veto.

France To Have A Program When Germany Surrenders

PARIS, March 12.—(By The Associated Press)—Premier Poincare accompanied by Minister of Public Works Letroquer and a staff of experts, left today for Brussels to attend the Franco-Belgian conference on the Ruhr.

SThe French believe that the surrender of Germany is merely a question of time and that the hour is approaching when France and Belgium must decide how they are to use their victory and what part Great Britain will play in the settlement.

More punishment
Meanwhile the question of further penalties, in the Ruhr has been brought prominently to the fore through the killing at Buer of a French officer and a civilian. The shootings led Premier Poincare to remark that he would consider with General DeGoutte whom he plans to meet on his trip to Brussels, whether all repressive measures against the German nationalist groups have been taken.

The opinion has prevailed here for some time that France desires to have a definite program ready for the day when Germany will begin negotiations for peace.

This day, it is believed in political circles, will be within three months. Premier Poincare in an interview with the correspondent, anchoring Germany's contention that the occupation is illegal, said that after the Franco-Russian war Germany desired to reinforce her army of occupation as a safeguard against any possible failure of France to meet her obligations. He added that France today was merely retaliating in a similar manner, with however, the great difference that the French measures are plainly authorized by the treaty of Versailles.

George Demereaux, 40 years old, was fined $200 and costs under his plea of guilty in Municipal court Monday under a charge of violating the dry laws. The defendant was taken in a raid staged by the police on his soft-drink parlor, called the Cackling Hen, situated on Harrisonville pike, New Boston, Sunday afternoon. A small quantity of liquor was found in the place by the officers, it was claimed.

The young couple received many beautiful presents in cut glass, silver and various other articles for their new home.

Miss Edith M. Hudson returned today from a week-end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Hudson of Columbus, who also had as a week-end guest Miss Helen Wilke of Toledo, Ohio.

LAD 9, TRIES TO OPE N BIG SAFE; POINTS UNLOADED GUN AT OFFICER

William Ryland, 9 years old, was the name given by a lad caught by the police Sunday afternoon at the office of J. D. Bridges, broker, in the old railroad depot on Waller street, near Tenth.

The lad had taken possession of two unloaded revolvers which he had found in the place and pointed the weapons at Officer Schroeder and commanded him to throw up his hands on entering the place. An investigation disclosed that the boy had attempted to open the office safe with a hammer and chisel and his efforts put the lock out of commission. His eight-year-old uncle, who was acting as a lookout, was found asleep by the officers.

The Ryland youth was sent to his home at 1233 Tenth street, no charge being pressed against him by reason of his age.

Falls Down Stairs; Skull Fractured

George Roberts, 47, of 3414 Walnut street, suffered a fractured skull about one o'clock Sunday morning when he fell down a flight of stairs at the Distel building, 2124 Gallia street. He was on his way to make a visit in one of the Distel flats, when he lost his balance and fell down the stairs. It was some minutes later when he was found by young men at the foot of the stairs in an unconscious condition. He was removed to Mercy hospital where an examination showed a fracture at the base of the skull. Roberts regained consciousness Sunday and the fracture is not thought to be fatal, according to attending physicians.

Physician Arrested

After winning the first round in his fight Saturday against being removed from Lexington, Ky., to Ohio under requisition to meet a charge of issuing worthless checks, Dr. H. J. Thornburg, 50 years old, came to trial in this city Sunday when he was taken into custody at the Washington hotel by Sheriff Harry M. Dunham and held at the county jail until several hours later when he furnished bond for his appearance at preliminary hearing before Judge Morgan.

The accused, it developed, after successfully combating the effort of Sheriff Dunham to bring him from Lexington to Portsmouth to answer to the complaint made by a local nurse who claims he issued two worthless checks aggregating $120 on a Columbus bank, he carried to this city in an effort to delay the matter by making the checks good and having the charges dropped. It was said Monday that local officers were not disposed to permit such action in view of the physician's stubborn fight to prevent extradition.

Released On Bond

Goldie Hudson, 38 years old, arrested Friday night on a charge of manslaughter for the slaying of her husband, Thomas Cole, 21 years old, has been released from custody on $2000 bond claimed by Joseph G. Seagull for her appearance for preliminary examination in Municipal court at one o'clock on March 14.

The killing occurred early on the morning of February 2 last, when a shot fired from a revolver in the hands of the woman lodged in Cole's chest and he died three days later from the wound. The victim was a frequent to the officers before he was exonerated the woman from blame and supported her claim that the shot was fired accidentally.

The shooting occurred in the home of the woman, 1113 Thirteenth street. The accused is represented by Attorney H. L. Smith.

Transcript Filed
A transcript from the docket of the case of Robert Wheeler, of Jefferson township, in the case of O. E. Seagull & Company against J. S. Seagull, now living at Estersville, has been filed in the office of the clerk of courts. The plaintiff obtained a judgment in the sum of $1250 balance on a promissory note in the lower court.

Still Found On Shantyboat

In a raid on a shantyboat anchored in the Ohio river at the mouth of Turkey Creek Saturday night, county officers seized a seventy gallon capacity copper still, destroyed twenty barrels containing 1000 gallons of mash in process of fermentation and arrested John DeLong, 77 years old, who claimed to be the sole caretaker of the boat. The aged man, who was the sole occupant of the boat, was brought to the county jail where he is held to answer to charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor unlawfully. It is said the officers in their investigation obtained the names of the real owners of the outfit.

Sunday School Attendance

Sunday the Bible school attendance was given but a slight boost over the previous Sunday. Yesterday the total was 751 or an increase of 272 over last week. This is considerable less than the March aim of 870 set by the Sunday school superintendents in their efforts to increase attendance. United Brethren made an extra effort yesterday with members Walter Jenkins and B. D. Ackley of the Dr. George Wood Anderson party present and had 615 Sunday record.	Manly .....	516	431

May Play Columbus Team

It is possible that arrangements may be made to stage a basketball game in Portsmouth in the near future between the champions of the Scout league and the champions of the church basketball leagues of Columbus. There are some very fast teams in the six leagues of Columbus and they are fighting for the championship this week. Any one of the teams which are said to have a good chance at the title will furnish good competition for our Scouts. Several of these Columbus teams have college and ex-high school players on them. An admission will be charged for this game and the proceeds go to the summer camp.

High Wind Halts River Traffic

Because of the high wind, which whipped and slashed its way through the city Monday many residents in South Portsmouth were unable to cross the river and report to their places of employment.

River men said it has been a long time since the river was as rough as it was today, great white caps rolling up through the center of it and traffic was at a standstill. The Steamer Russell, the lower ferry, was tied up on the Kentucky shore all morning, being unable to make a trip across the river.

It is much lighter than the regular ferry, Chesapeake, which is being overhauled on the Ft. Pleasant docks. The Peerless, the upper ferry, is a heavier boat than the Steamer Russell and it was able to make several trips today.

Army And Navy Takes Hand In Rum Probe

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The series of bootlegger raids which in recent weeks have brought the national capital sharply into the limelight of the war of enforcement authorities against liquor law violation, has resulted in an order to navy officers and army to investigate the appearance of names and addresses of more than fifty army, navy and marine corps officers in a list seized in a raid March 3.

The list as published today in the Washington Post, contains more than 400 names and was seized in a raid on the home of James M. Connor, arrested on the charge of illegal possession and selling of liquor after the confiscation of liquors valued at $4,000.

Connor, the police declare, was one of the chief sources of bootleg supply in Washington.

The names were said already to have turned over the list of names to the army and navy intelligence officers. It also was said to have been given to the prohibition enforcement bureau and the commissioners of the District of Columbia.

The list, except in a few instances, gave only the last name and address of the entries. The rank of the army, navy and marine officers included however, was indicated by each instance. The names included half a dozen high ranking naval officers and several of the names in the army. The police department at the time of the raid at Connor's about six of the names and addresses checked with those of members of congress and that several of the addresses were

SOCIETY

A birthday dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Caroline Lover on Dry Run recently in honor of the eighty-second birthday anniversary of Mr. Isaac Smith, the seventy-fourth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Rachael Spriggs and the sixty-first birthday anniversary of Mrs. Anna Buffinger and the thirty-first birthday of Mr. August Lover. A delicious chicken dinner was served, with a large birthday cake forming the central adornment of the table. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith, Mrs. Anna Buffinger, Mrs. Rachael Spriggs, Mr. August Lover, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Skaggs and sisters, Misses Flora and Lina Cassidy, Mrs. Charlie Davis, Miss Jessie Buffinger, Mrs. Edda Hollbrook, Mrs. Caroline Lover and daughter Mary, Mrs. Margaret Smith and daughter Rosemary and Harry Wesel. Many beautiful presents were exchanged and a very pleasant day was enjoyed by all present.

The fourth illustrated lecture to be given by Prof. Elmer Ende, organist of the Second Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Ladies Musicale will be given Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Arthur H. Bauman on Offshore Street. Prof. Ende will speak on "New Wrinkle in Modern Music." He will also play "Six Little Piano Pieces, Op. 19," by Arnold Schoenberg.

All members of the musicale are cordially invited to attend this delightful concert. New members will also be welcome.

At a meeting held recently, plans were made for a Grotto Novelty Dance to be given next Friday night in Baesman's Dancing Academy. Dancing will be from nine until the wee small hours of the morning and music will be furnished by Baesman's orchestra. This promises to be the banner dance of the season and the members are looking forward to the affair with an unusual degree of pleasure.

The committee in charge of the arrangements includes Messrs. Geo. Schirman, George Koerner, Charles Massa, Fred Lilly, Charles Correll, George Carson, John Turner, Jack Hannah, Ralph Ruggles, Harry Miller, F. K. Scott, Harry Flowers, Leroy Compton, Ben Cross, John Milford, Walter Herley and Ernest L. Schinsky.
